

Modern Library Association (MLA) Style for Citing Sources

When writing a report, you should cite the sources for quotations, facts that are not common knowledge, and ideas that are not your own. Sources can be cited by using Internal Citations along with a Bibliography of Works Cited section at the end of your paper/project.

Internal Citations: An internal citation appears in parentheses. It introduces the author's last name and the page number on which the information appears. The citation appears right before the period at the end of the sentence(s) in which you used the material. If several sentences in a row contain information from the same source, the citation only needs to appear at the end of the last sentence.

Example:

“The Duke of Lancaster in 1888... controlled more than 163,000 acres of British countryside” (Pool 163).

MLA recommends double spacing citations.

- If no author is given, start the citation with the title
- Abbreviate the names of all months, except May, June and July.
- Indent the second line and all other lines 5 spaces
- If publishing information is not given, use these abbreviations:

✓ No publisher or place given: n.p.

✓ No page numbers: n. pag.

✓ No date of publication given: n.d.
